PRESIDENTIAL WELCOME

Welcome to the 2009-10 edition of your yearbook: The Athena. Forty years ago, our nation was going through a time of great turbulence. We were in the midst of a war, protests were closing college campuses, and civil rights was a prevalent issue. During that time, I found myself – a young man and new college graduate – on the doorstep of a new and confusing world.

As I charted my course and took the next steps towards my personal and professional goals, in the back of my mind, I held fast to the memories and experiences I gained at Ohio University and the core values that were instilled in me along the way.

Today, our world is no less confusing, but the foundation you built at Ohio University will sustain you throughout your personal and professional lives. Hold fast to your dreams and enjoy this new chapter and the next adventure you are about to undertake.

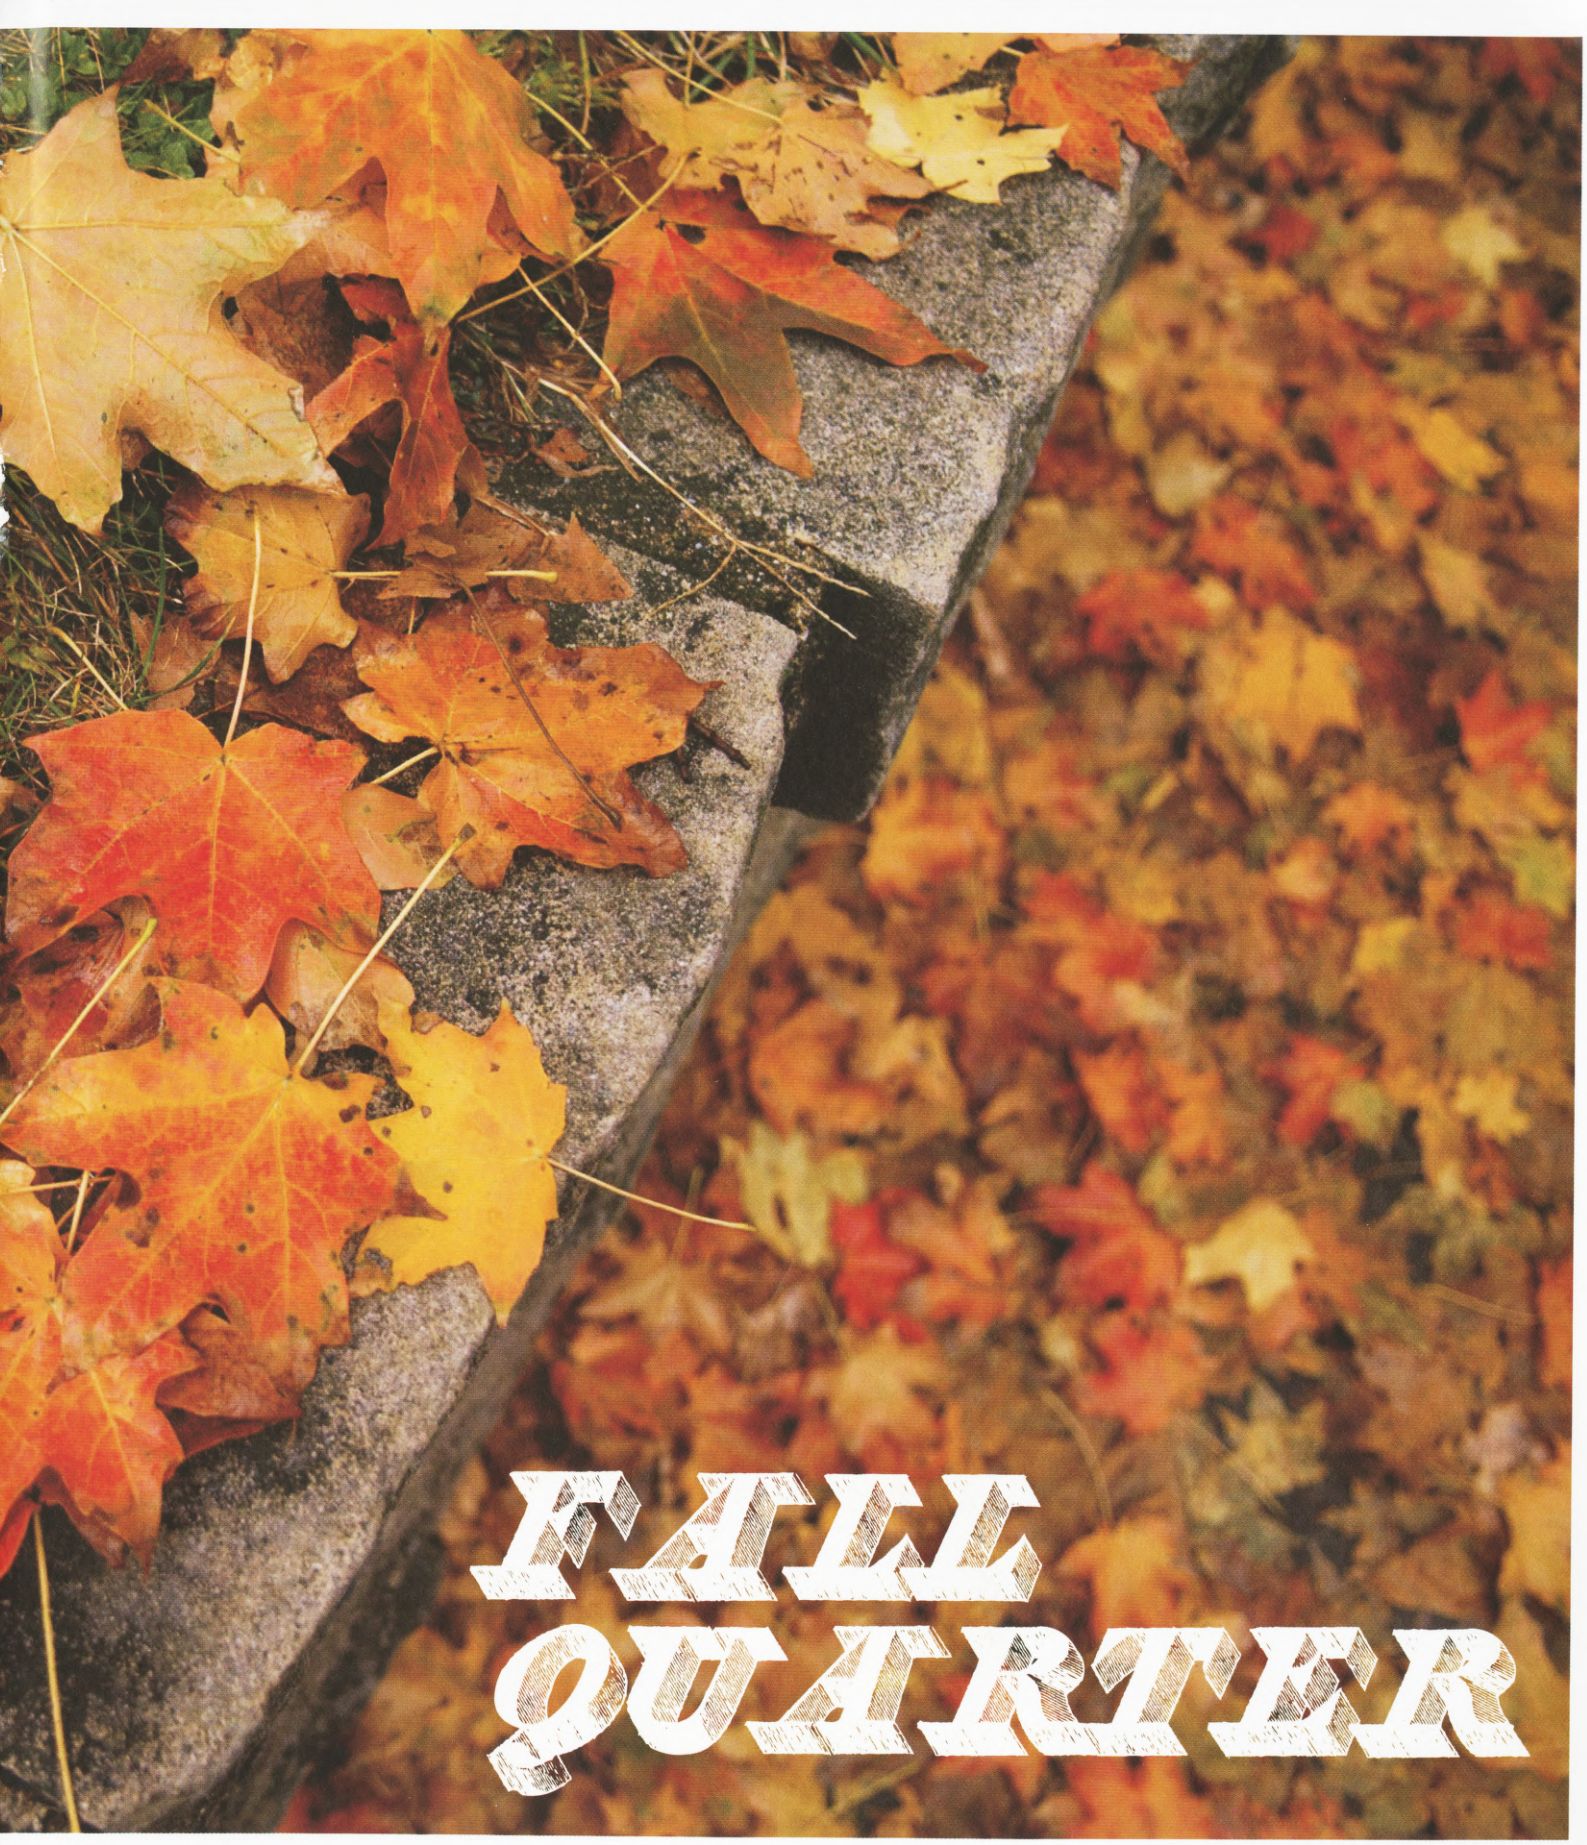

We hope you enjoy revisiting this collection of special memories for many years to come and we wish you the best in your future endeavors!

Cordially,

Roderick J. McDavis

Bobcat Football

The OU Bobcats had an exciting yet heart breaking season as the team won the MAC East Division but fell short in the MAC Championship Game and in the Little Caesars Bowl. Head Coach Frank Solich was awarded the Phill Steel Mid American Conference Coach of the Year for leading the Bobcats to a 9-4 season with only one loss in the MAC.

The season started with an Ohio loss to the UCONN Huskies. The team bounced back with a pair of wins against California Polytechnic State University and the University of North Texas. Ohio beat Miami University during Homecoming Weekend in Athens. Ohio scored 28 and Miami scored 7 making this the seventh loss in a row for the Red Hawk's 2009-2010 season.

Thanks to strong defensive efforts by Gerald Moore, Lee Renfro, and Noah Keller the Bobcats clinched a spot in the MAC East division championship game by beating Temple 35 to 17.

The Bobcats went on to earn a spot in the MAC Championship title game by narrowly beating Northern Illinois. Levon Brazill recorded a school record 91 yard punt return for a touchdown.

Then Ohio lost against Central Michigan (10-20) in a hard fought MAC Championship game. Taylor Price broke the school record for career receptions with 145 total receptions on his career.

The Bobcats also lost to Marshal in the Little Caesars Bowl with a score of 17-21. Thad Turner and Taylor Price represented the Bobcats in post season MAC all star games.

Field Hockey

Ohio University's field hockey team finished their season with a 12-9 record in the MAC and a MAC Championship title under their belts.

The long season started slow with losses to Maryland and Northwestern with scores of 0-3 and 2-3 respectively. The season then continued to fluctuate up and down and the Bob cats finished the season by winning five of their six final games, including the MAC ...

Championship. The Bobcats beat Miami University twice this year. The first game was a 1-0 OU win at Oxford. The second meeting was for the MAC Championship in Muncie Indiana where the Bobcats won 2-1. Katherine Ballard scored the first goal unassisted. Brooke Edwards scored the second goal late in the game to shut down Miami's final rally. Goal keeper Courtney Seiders also had 14 saves on the day.

Next the Bobcats played the Richmond University Spiders for a chance to play in the NCAA tournament but lost 2-1 in a high tempo game. Katelyn Shelley scored the Bobcats only goal in the first minute of possession of the game. Richmond players Sara Blythe and Dani Pycroft put the Bobcats to bed for the season.

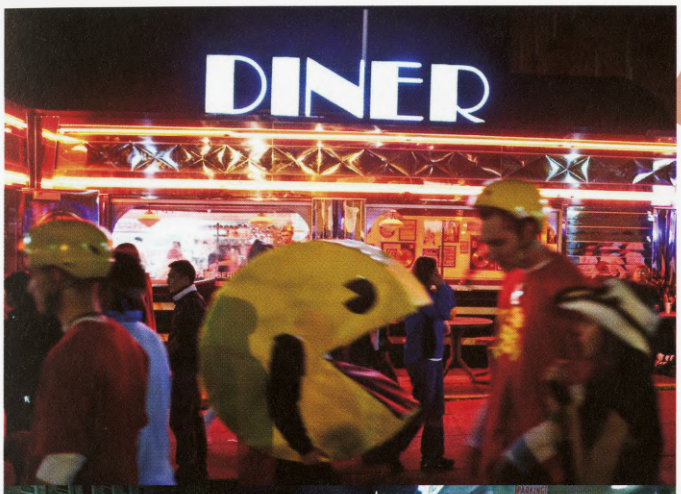

Marcy Dull, the Bobcats leading goal scorer, with 11 goals on the season, was invited to play on the Lonstreth Division One West All-Star Team in the post season.

Andrea Biegalski was named to the All-Rookie squad of a women's college field hockey news website.

Halloween

After Court Street was blocked off, celebrities such as Michael Jackson, Gumby, Jesus and Dorothy made their way to Athens to engage in the notorious Halloween festivities.

Students, not only from OU but colleges across the Midwest, piled onto Court Street not knowing what celebrity or cartoon character they were going to have the opportunity to meet. Body paint, glitter and colorful costumes glistened in the streetlights.

Goblins and nuns danced in the moonlight to the beat of the bands that played on the setup stages. A group of bananas shook hands with the Pope. Characters from movies and TV shows formed lines outside of the bars anticipating the adventures they were to experience inside. Never in a lifetime would you expect to find such a variety of people in one spot.

Homecoming 2009

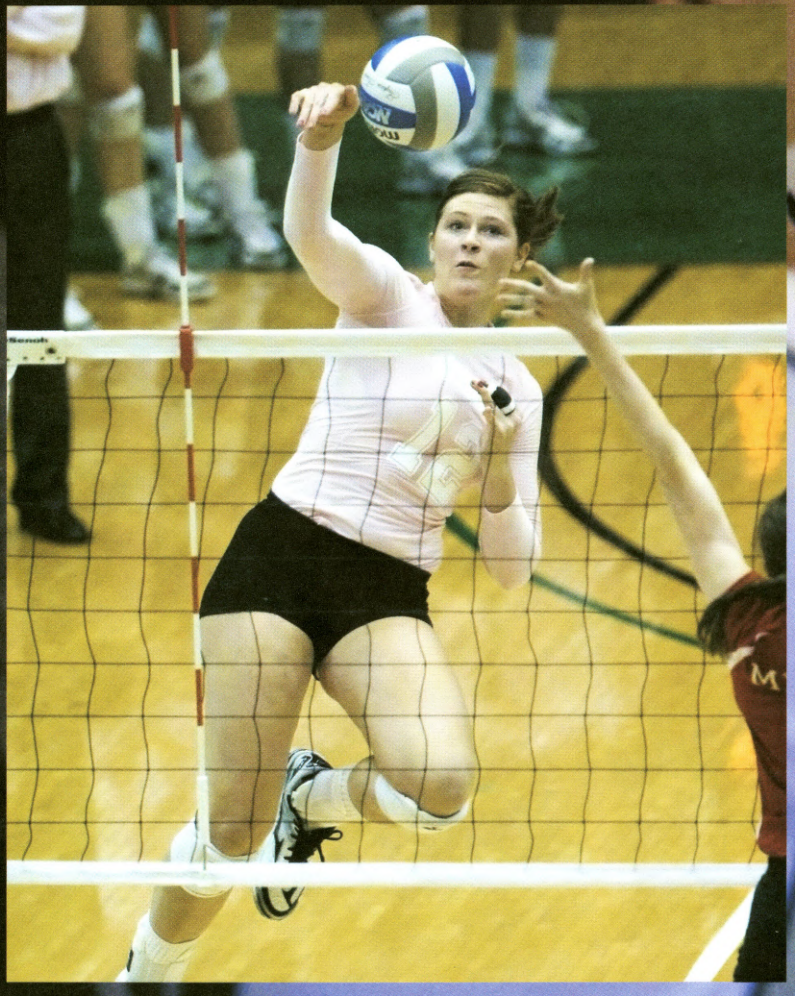

Alumni from all over the country travel back to Athens to celebrate their favorite holiday, Homecoming weekend, with current students at OU.

The weekend can be described as nothing less than a nonstop celebration. Alumni and students pile into the bars as early as 5 a.m. and continue the festivities until the wee hours of the morning. Some brave souls don't even stop there and continue to party into the next day.

Ohio beat Miami University for the fourth consecutive year. OU fans gleamed with pride and merriment. The excitement rang through the streets as the Bobcats rejoiced the defeat of their arch-nemesis, the Redhawks.

The Marching 110 surprised us all once again with their philharmonic energy. Their orchestral sound filled the morning air as they marched from Court Street to the stadium. At night, the drum line passed through every bar, revving up the crowds with their intense enthusiasm. It was a great time to be a Bobcat fan.

Volleyball

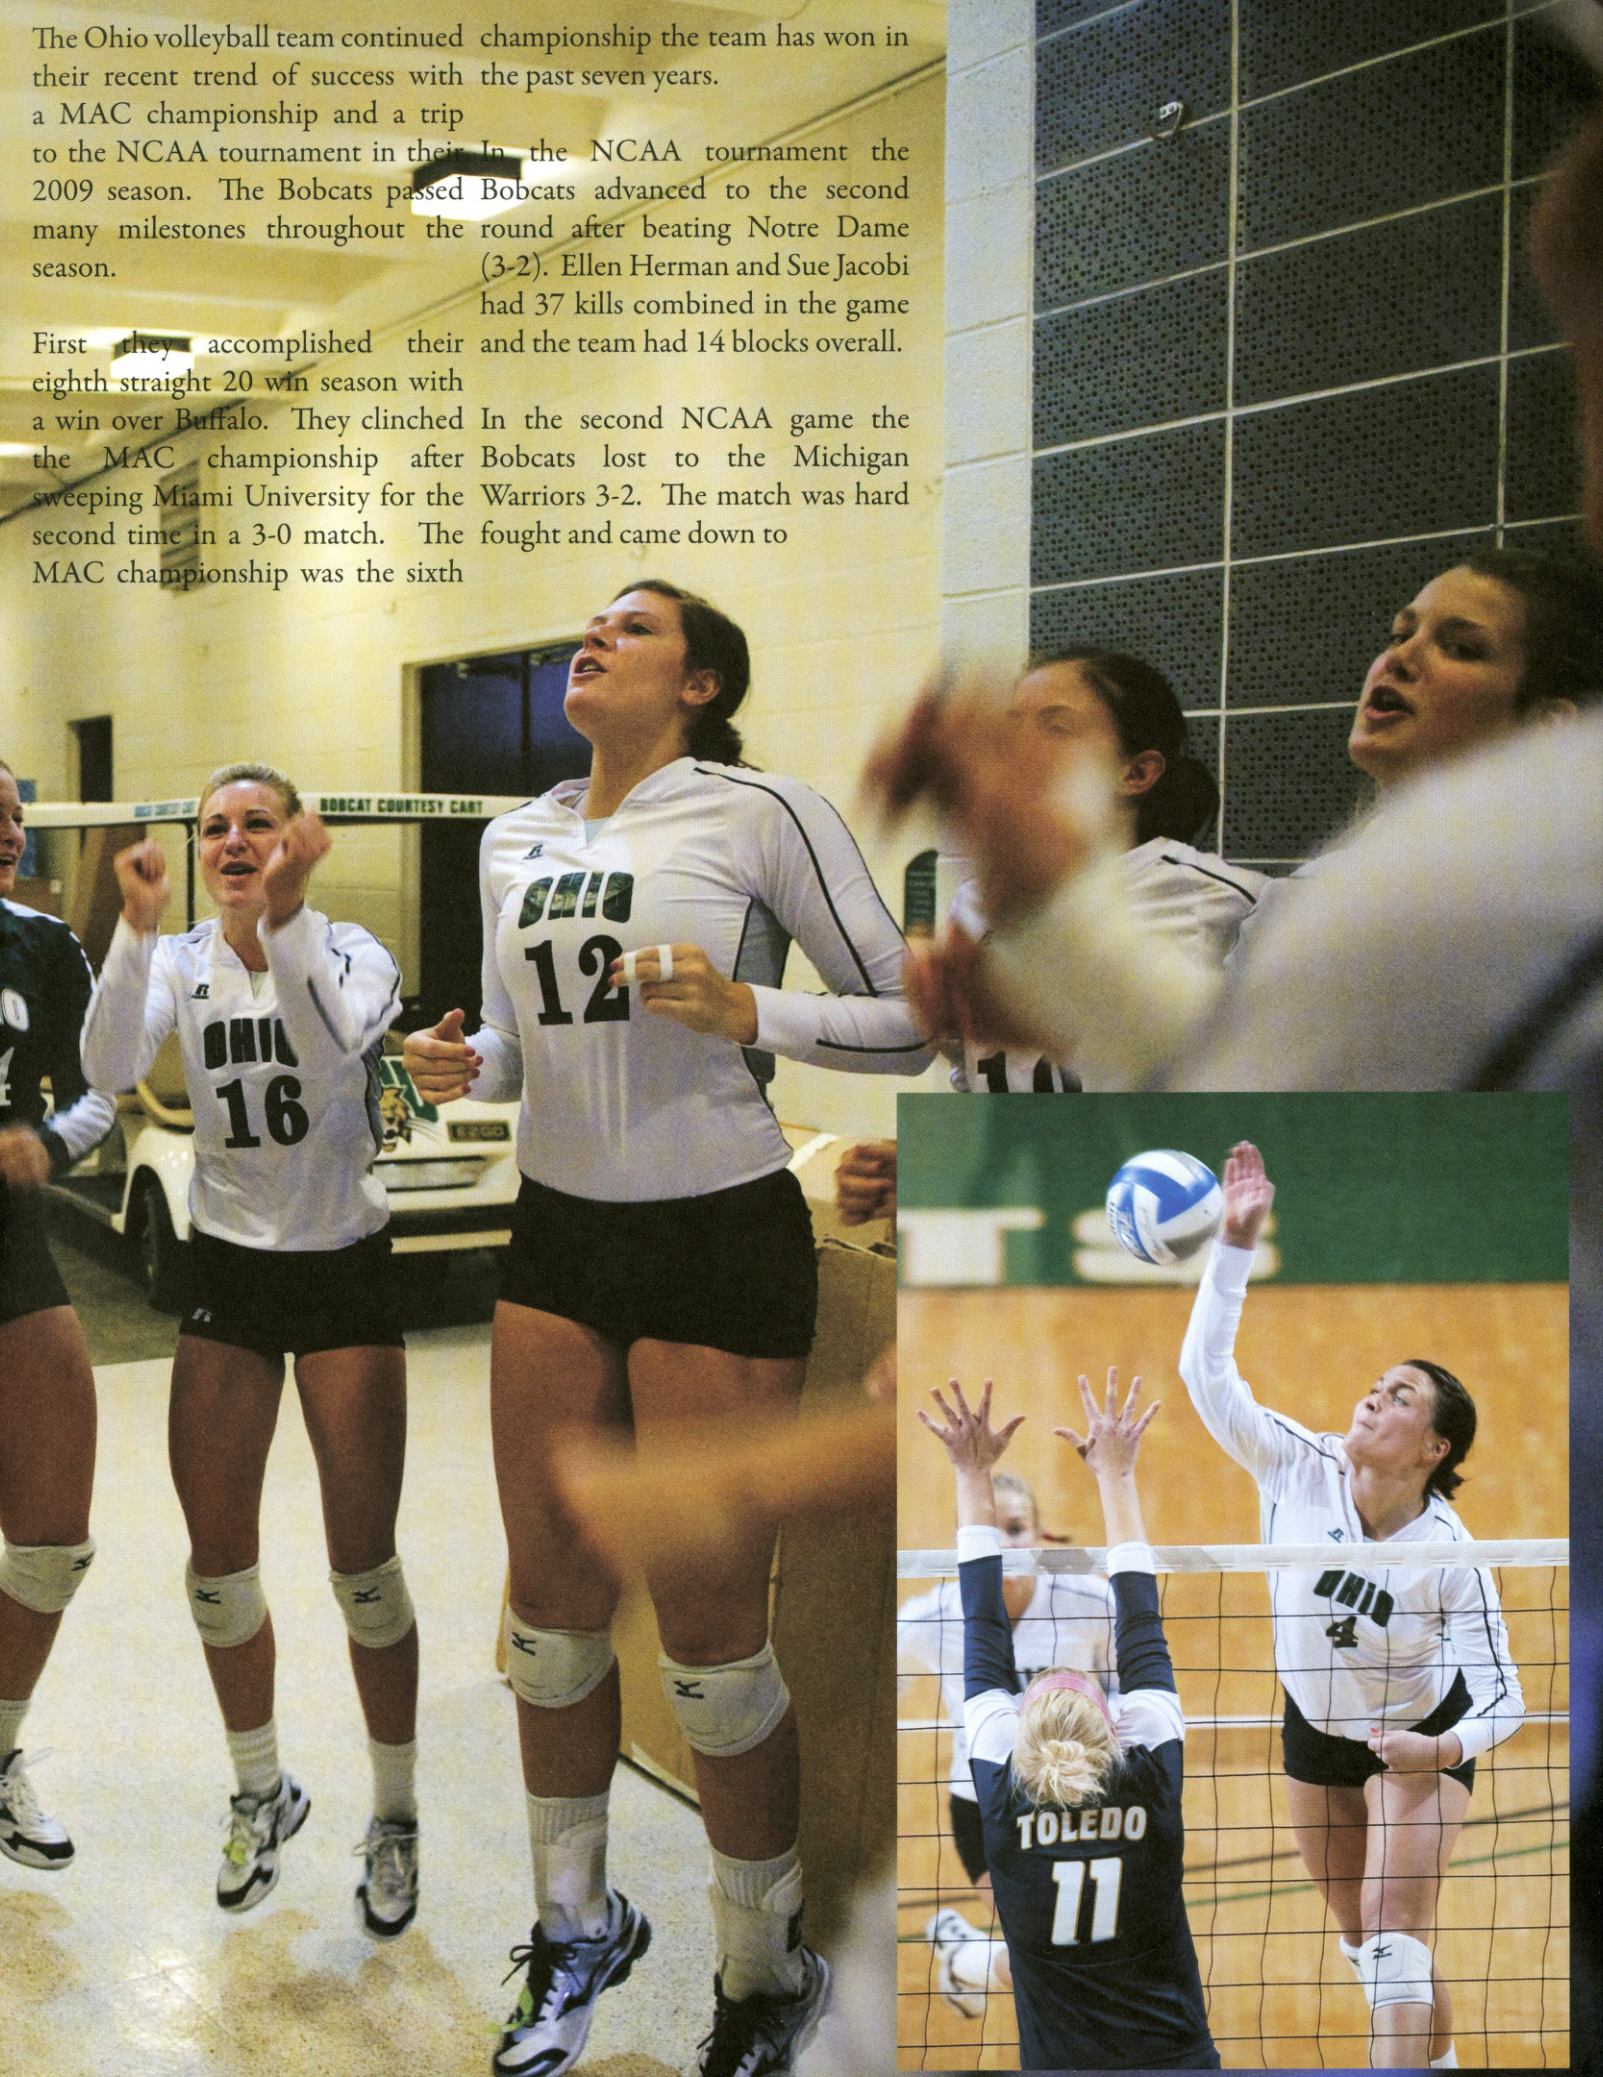

The Ohio volleyball team continued their recent trend of success with a MAC championship and a trip to the NCAA tournament in their 2009 season. The Bobcats passed many milestones throughout the season.

First they accomplished their eighth straight 20 win season with a win over Buffalo. They clinched the MAC championship after sweeping Miami University for the second time in a 3-0 match. The MAC championship was the sixth championship the team has won in the past seven years.

In the NCAA tournament the Bobcats advanced to the second round after beating Notre Dame (3-2). Ellen Herman and Sue Jacobi had 37 kills combined in the game and the team had 14 blocks overall.

In the second NCAA game the Bobcats lost to the Michigan Warriors 3-2. The match was hard fought and came down to

Bobcat XC

The OU men's and woman's cross country teams had a consistent season and finished in the middle of the pack in almost all of the meets they participated in over the course of the season.

The men's team was young this year with many underclassmen and eight redshirted athletes. The women's team was made up of predominantly freshman. The two top women runners from last season Kari Summers and Annie Beechman were both redshirted for the 2009 season.

The season started strong with both teams finishing fourth in the season opener in Blacksburg VA. Janielle Hunt finished 12 out of 76 with a time of 17:04.6 in the women's 4.6k race.

The Bobcats home meet got cut short after heavy rains caused the 6k race to be cut down to a 3k.

In the regional meet the men placed seventh and the women placed tenth. Redshirt Kari Summers placed fifth in the meet with a time of 21:16 in the 6k. Fellow redshirt Annie Beechman placed seventh with a 21:23.5.

In the Mac championship the men placed sixth and the women placed eighth. Noah Hawkins had a season best time of 26:53.7 in the men's 8k race.

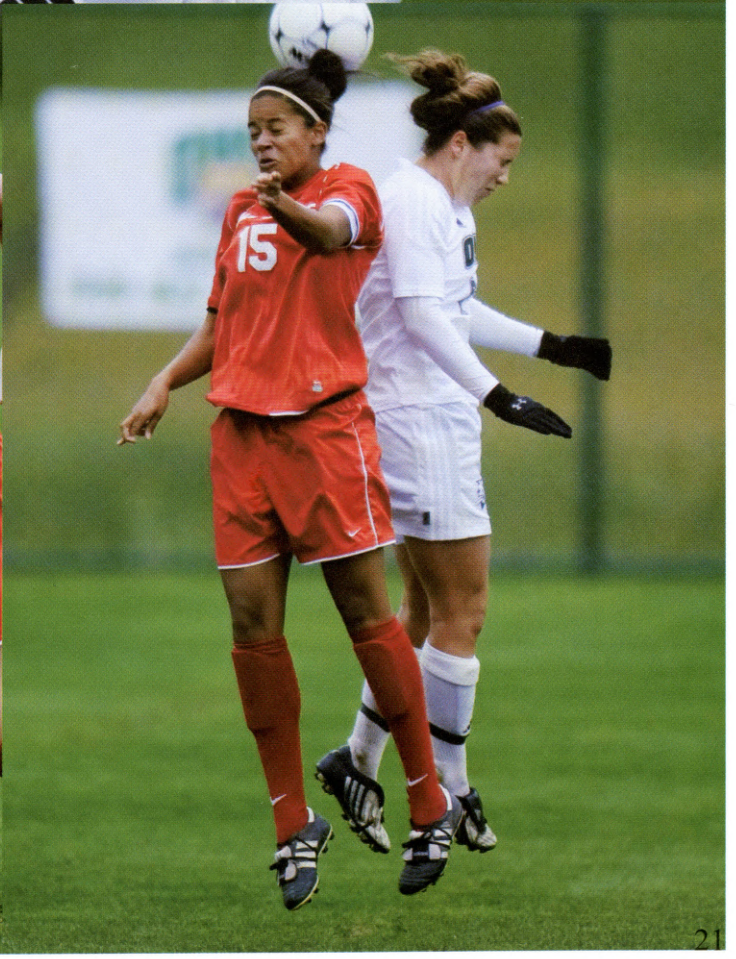

Soccer

The women's soccer team had a competitive season with their eleventh trip to the MAC tournament in which they lost to Toledo, with a score of Ohio 1 and Toledo 3. The Bobcats finished the season just above 500 with nine wins, eight losses, and two ties. Erin Schwenke lead the teams in goals with four on the season.

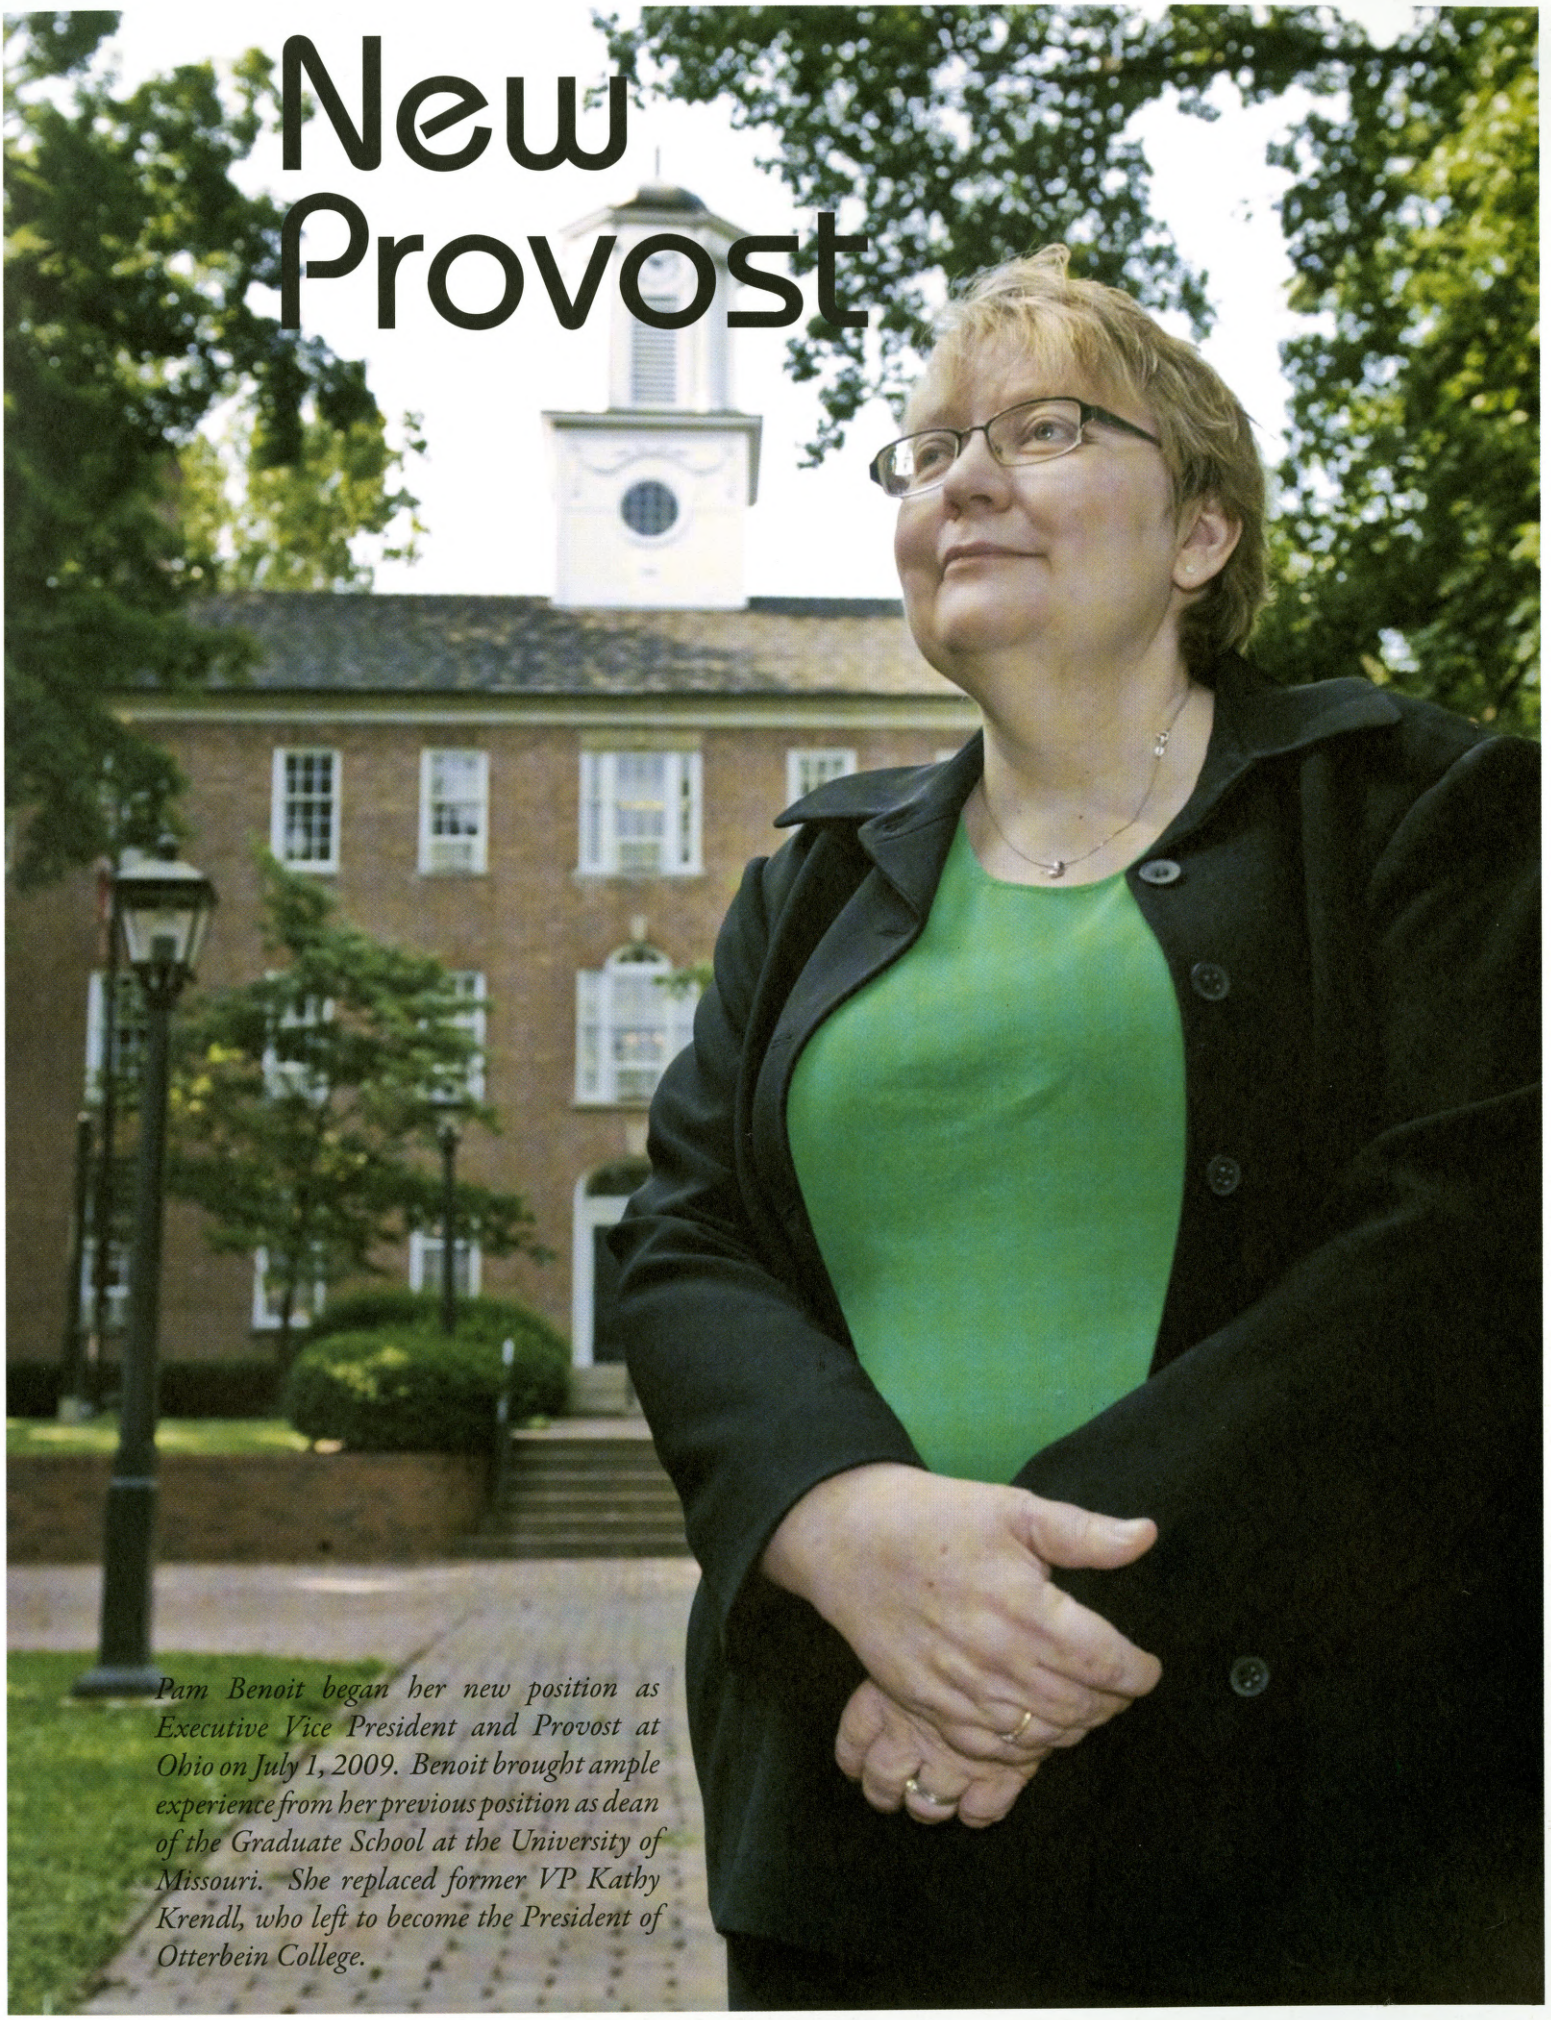

Featuring mac 'n' cheese every day, a remodeled Shively Court opened for hungry students in Fall of 2009. Lines stretched outside the door virtually every day, but students couldn't get enough of the most popular dining hall on campus, serving 11,021 in four days during its first week open. The dining hall was so popular that finding seating was often an issue, but the food was so good that nobody minded the wait.

New Provost

Pam Benoit began her new position as Executive Vice President and Provost at Ohio on July 1, 2009. Benoit brought ample experience from her previous position as dean of the Graduate School at the University of Missouri. She replaced former VP Kathy Krendl, who left to become the President of Otterbein College.

Men's Basketball

The 2009-10 Ohio men's basketball team saved their best ball for the home stretch of the season and it paid off in a big way.

The Bobcats ended the season with a 6-1 mark in March after winning just 16 of their first 30 games. The last of those final six wins the most improbable, a first-round win in the NCAA Tournament over the Georgetown Hoyas that will surely never be forgotten by the team and its fans.

The Bobcats (22-15) were the 13th seed in the Midwest Region, but John Groce's team didn't seem intimidated by the 3rd-seeded Hoyas. They hit 13-of-23 three-point attempts to cruise to a 97-83 victory. The Bobcats did fall to the Tennessee Volunteers in the second round of the tournament, but that did little to undermine the incredible upset victory over Georgetown.

That NCAA Tournament win, the team's first since 1983, would have never been possible if not for the Bobcat's strong showing in the MAC Tournament.

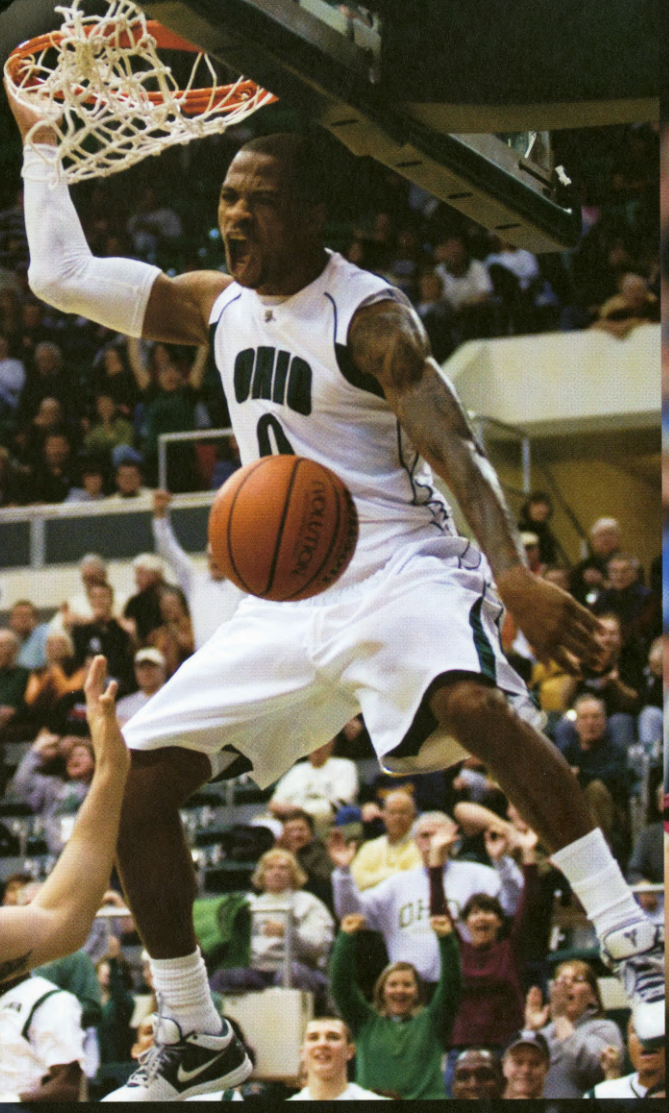

The team entered the MAC Tourney as the ninth seed and seemed like a likely bet to be bounced early. The Bobcats had other plans, winning four games in seven days to earn an automatic bid in the NCAA Tournament.

Junior Armon Bassett earned MAC Tournament MVP honors after averaging a spectacular 29 points in the team's four games. He also set a MAC Tournament record with 116 points and 49 free throws.

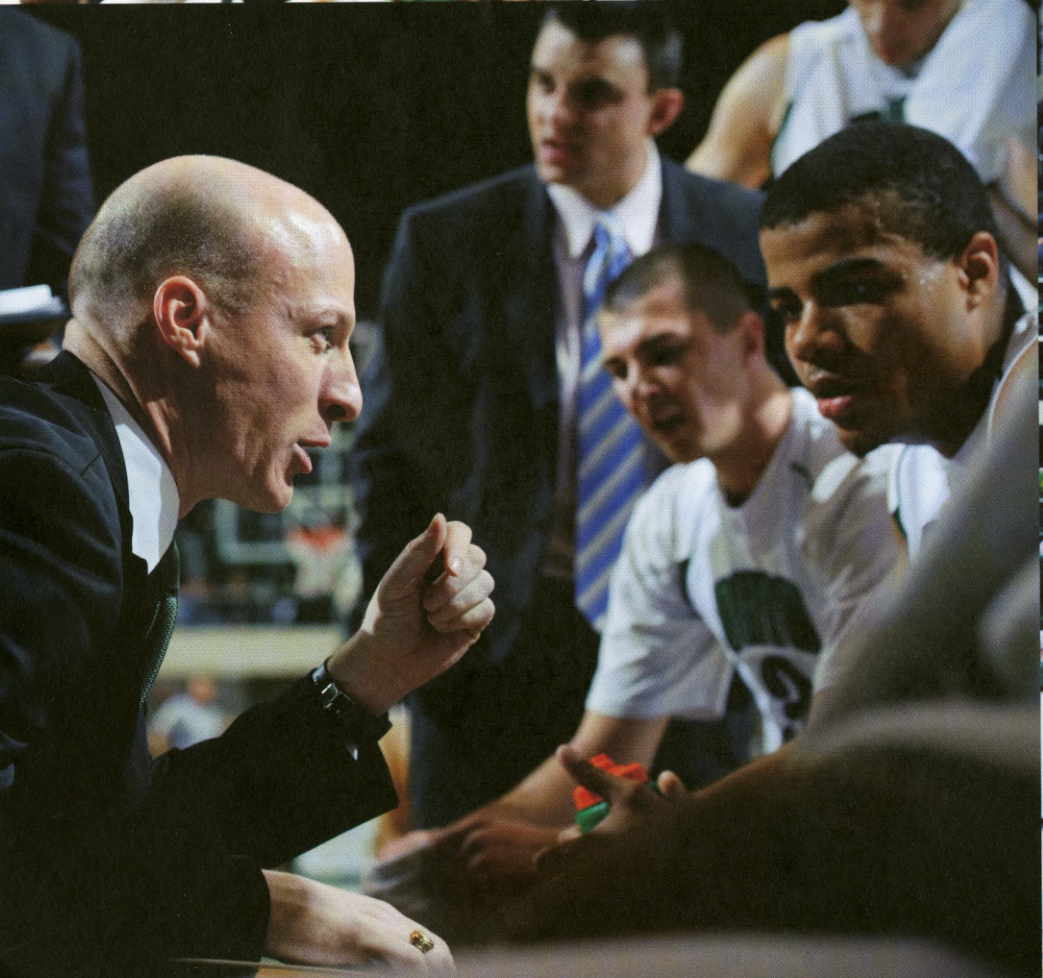

Bassett and freshman point guard D.J. Cooper combined for 48 points in the MAC championship game against the Akron Zips. Ohio won that contest 81-75 in overtime to earn the team's first MAC Championship since 2005.

Bassett, who averaged 17.1 points and 3.3 assists for the season, earned Honorable Mention All-MAC honors for the season. Cooper was named the MAC Freshman of the Year after he averaged 13.5 points and 5.4 assists. Kenneth Van Kempen, the team's only senior, averaged 6.8 points and a team-high 6.7 rebounds.

It was a disappointing season for the Ohio women's basketball team in 2009-10, but even with their struggles the team competed until the season's final buzzer.

Even though they were just 8-21 in the regular season, the Bobcats nearly pulled off a victory in the first round of the MAC Tournament. They lost 69-66 to the higher-seeded Central Michigan Chippewas and were paced by 17 points from senior Jenny Poff.

Poff led the way offensively for the Bobcats all season, averaging a team-best 11.4 points. She was followed closely by fellow senior guard Jennifer Bushby, who averaged 10.4 points. Busby scored her 1000 career point in February against Toledo, becoming just the 13th Bobcat to ever accomplish the feat.

"I was really blessed to have an opportunity to play all four years here at Ohio," Busby said after the game. "From my freshman year, I've just had an opportunity to come in here and do some good things for this basketball team."

Ohio was most successful when playing at home this season, winning seven of their 15 games inside the Convocation Center. They couldn't overcome their inconsistent play on the road, however, as they went just 1-14 away from home.

The Bobcats played some of their best basketball to start the season. They won three of their first six games, with all three victories coming by at least 12 points.

Coach Semeka Randall's team got their most lopsided victory in early January when they defeated Colgate 74-40. The Bobcats were firing on all cylinders for much of the second half, outscoring the Raiders 34-5 over the final 17 minutes. Poff and Bushby combined for 25 points as the Bobcats shot nearly 54 percent from the field.

Bushby earned Honorable Mention All-MAC after the season, while Poff was named to the Academic All-MAC team.

Swimming and Diving

Coming off their 2nd place finish at the MAC Championship in the 2008-2009 season, the Ohio University Swimming and Diving team came in to the season looking to make the jump to champions.

The Bobcats started off their great regular season winning the first two meets against MAC opponents, Akron and Buffalo, in Athens.

From there the Bobcats traveled to Akron to compete in the Akron Invitational. The team was in second place until the final day of competition where they won three events and set two meet records to cap off the weekend and secure the title.

The first place finish set the pace for the rest of the regular season for the Bobcats as they went on to win the final seven dual meets to wrap up the regular season. The victories included wins over conference rivals, Miami, Ball St., and Eastern Michigan.

To finish off their season the swim and dive team traveled to Oxford, Ohio for the MAC Championships. The team finished 3rd overall at the meet, but the Bobcats captured four individual titles and one relay title. Junior Rachel Heim finished her incredible season by earning the MAC Co-Swimmer of the Year award. Senior Chelsey Bower was also recognized for her efforts this season. Bower earned the conference's Senior Swimmer of the Year award.

The Bobcat wrestling team returned all ten starters this season and the experience paid off. Ohio wrestling finished 12-5 overall, 3-2 in the MAC. The team went 3-0 off the top of the season, suffering its first lost against 15th-ranked Edinboro after tying for 4th at the Reno Tournament and 6th at the Southern Scuffle.

In conference matches, Ohio took Northern Illinois, Buffalo, and Eastern Michigan to the mat but fell to No. 20 Kent State and No. 6 Central Michigan, finishing third in the MAC. At the MAC Championship tournament, Erik Schuth took the title in the 197-lb. bracket, becoming Ohio's 101st wrestling conference champion.

Germane Lindsey stole the show for the Bobcats at the NCAA Championships in Omaha, Nebraska, where Ohio tied for 35th overall as a team. Seth Morton, Nick Purdue, Erik Schuth, and Jacob Ison also attended. Lindsey finished 6th in the tournament's 141 lb. bracket. He was also named an All-American, making him the 24th Ohio wrestler to earn the designation. In other post-season accolades, Morton was named to the Division I All-Academic team.

Wrestling

Hockey

The past season for Ohio Hockey was one filled with a whole lot more "ups" than "downs." The team reeled off 15 consecutive wins en route to a 34-10-0-3 record.

The Bobcats, ranked in the Top-5 all year, stormed through the regular season-earning the CSCHL Regular Season Title. Ohio made a strong case for the award with a middle-of-the-season sweep of #1 Lindenwood, who went on to win the ACHA National Title for the second consecutive year.

In the CSCHL Tournament, the Bobcats blew past Robert Morris and Iowa State, before falling to Lindenwood in the Finals.

At the National Tournament in Bensenville, IL, the 3-seed 'Cats rode strong play on both sides of the puck to the final four. But in the semi-final contest, they bowed to Iowa State, a team they beat three times during the season.

However, with a stellar team effort also came individual accolades. Goaltender Paul Marshall capped off his senior campaign being named both CSCHL and ACHA Player of The Year. Coach Dan Morris was given the CSCHL Coach of the Year honor, and was in contention for National Coach of the Year.

The squad loses only three players: Marshall, forward Ryan Tessmer, and defensemen Justin Farmer. Tessmer ranked 3rd in points this season.

Greek Week: Air Bands

Every year the Office of Off Campus Life, one of the commissions of student senate, hosts a number of events one of those being Athens Beautification Day. Beautification Day

Mom's Weekend

Every year, students invite their moms to spend a fun-filled weekend with them in Athens.

Moms travel from near and far to see how their darling children have adapted to the college life. They cram into tiny dorm rooms and filthy houses thankful they are only staying for a few days.

The moms spoil their deprived children who have been living off of ramen noodles, cafeteria food and beer for the past few months. They pile into Walmart to buy groceries, cleaning supplies, hygienic products and whatever else their children need.

The moms take their children out to eat or they cook for them. However, this year, we all found out it is in our best interest to cook at home. There is nothing like a home-cooked meal by your mom.

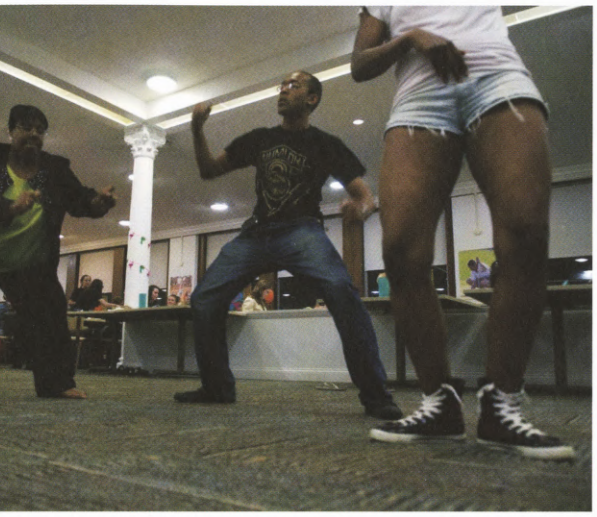

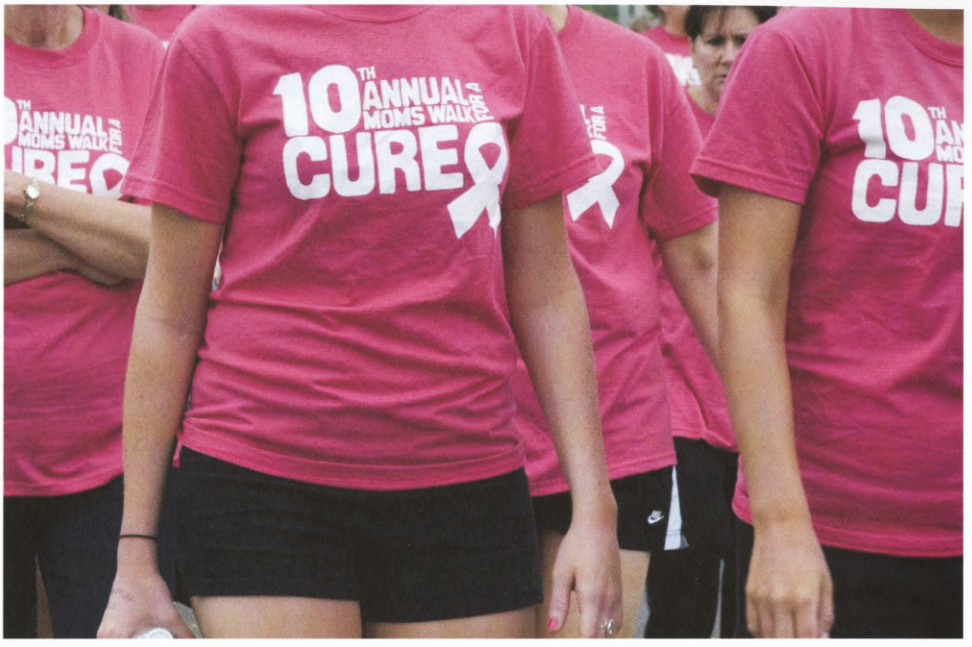

Students and their moms enjoyed events on campus such as Bahama Bring Your Mama, which featured bingo, games and music. There was also cake decorating, concerts, Mom's Market, and a whole lot more!

At night, moms and students fill the streets of uptown Athens. Every bar was packed to its maximum capacity. Lines formed out of every door. Music and laughter filled the night air as the students bonded with their moms.

Unlike Moms Weekends in the past, no moms were arrested this year. In fact, the crime rate was no worse than any other weekend in Athens. The weekend did get pretty rowdy, but, for the most part, the law was obeyed.

Spring Fests

As spring quarter rolled around, students became desperate to strip off their layers of clothing and enjoy the warmth of the sun. After being cooped up indoors for months, excitement and eagerness flowed through the students' veins. Their unbearable anticipation to let loose was evident as the fest season unraveled.

High Fest was the first fest of the year. Students piled onto the lawns, porches and rooftops. Laughter and hurrah filled the air as the students celebrated with their friends. A small fire in the street led police to to shut the fest down by 11 p.m.

The following Friday evening was Palmer Place Fest. The students crowded the balconies, staircases and courtyard. Students waved their drinks in the air as the music blared. The fest was again shut down early.

The infamous Palmer Fest was the next day. Dark clouds covered the sky and cold wind blew, but the students were still came, boogying to the beats of the DJs. Police patrolled the street pouring out the cups of students' who were on the sidewalk or in the street. Then, for the second year in a row, a burning couch brought the fest to a halt. Officers in riot gear forced the students to leave and shut the fest down.

The next weekend was Oak Fest and Mill Fest. For these fests, because the police expressed a zero-tolerance attitude, the students remained in control, for the most part. They relaxed and danced to the music of the DJs enjoying the shining sun and the clear blue sky.

The fest season ended with Seven Fest, which headlined the recently popular pop artist Mike Posner.

Baseball

The Baseball Bobcats had a rough start to the season after going almost three months with only three wins. At the time of this writing, Ohio had clinched an appearance in the Mid-American Conference Tournament by recently sweeping Akron in a three-game series. They were at the time tied for sixth in the conference.

Up through the Akron series, Gauntlett Eldemire led the team in batting average and slugging percentage with .409 and .751 respectively. He also led the team in stolen bases with 15. Robert Maddox III led in many other batting categories, including hits with 82, RBI's with 71, total bases with 160, and doubles and home runs with 19 of each.

Jason Moulton led the Bobcats' pitching efforts with an ERA of 3.31 which led the team, as well as allowing the least amount of runs and home runs. He was named MAC East Pitcher of the Week two consecutive weeks, the second coming after he pitched the first complete game in almost two seasons of Ohio baseball.

Track & Field

The Women's Track team took first place as a team in two meets this year. At the Alumni Open in February, Kristen Altenburger and Lauren Adkins placed first and second respectively in the 5000m, and then again Ohio Women's Team Challenge at home in April. Alexis Geiger took second in the 200m dash, setting a team season best in the event and in the long jump as well, also taking second. Bahiyjaui Allen took first in the shot-put and Emily Amendola was right behind in second. The Bobcats also won The Ohio Women's Team Challenge with five first-place finishes: Danielle Winningham in the 400m dash, Allen in shot put, and Amendola in the discus and hammer throws. Kiley Mathews, Janaia Sledge-Maith, Hope McCarty, and Winningham nabbed first in the 4x400m as well to propel Ohio to the win.

The Bobcats just finished competing at the MAC Championships at the time of this writing, coming in ninth place. Annie Beecham earned second team All-MAC honors by taking third place in the 5000m run, destroying the team's previous best time by 19 seconds. Kari Summers was right behind, securing fourth place. Cathy Udeani tied for fifth in the high jump.

Love's Labors Lost

Softball

The Softball Bobcats' season ended abruptly after a 1-0 loss to Northern Illinois in the conference tournament, finishing 20-32 overall and 14-8 in the MAC. The Bobcats will say goodbye to three seniors: Shalene Petrich, Deanna Hartsough, and Candace Saucedo. Petrich was named to the All-MAC second team, while Melissa Bonner and Emily Wethington made first team honors. Lauren Gellerman was also awarded a spot on the All-MAC Freshman team.

In the record books, Wethington broke Erin Chapman's milestone for single-season homers with nine. Chapman also lost the title of all-time leader in runs to Petrich, who stands at second in all-time hits and third in all-time singles.

Bonner kept opposing batters bewildered with a stifling ERA of 1.77 in conference play and a record of 9-1. She also had 65 strikeouts in 79 innings.

Ohio swept conference opponents Western Michigan, Eastern Michigan, Buffalo, Toledo, and Bowling Green. Their 14 MAC wins was the most of any team in the past 8 seasons. The team broke the single-season home run record, blasting 32 hits over the fence.

The Bobcats had a solid year though with their best finish coming at the Rutherford Invitational hosted by Penn State. Three Bobcats, Stewart Jamieson, Chuck Nettles and Chad Warmbein, all finished in the top 20.

Ohio also traveled quite a bit this season. They made trips to Hilton Head, Puerto Rico, and played various courses throughout Indiana and Kentucky.

The men's team only graduated three seniors from the team. Tim Gusweiler, Stewart Jamieson and Chad Warmbein will say good bye to Ohio.

The women's golf team had a successful year too and took home 7th at the MAC Championship. Jordan Fesh, Erin Cahill and Megan Weaver all shot under 80 on the final day of the tournament.

The women's best finish came at the Falcon Invitational in Bowling Green. Megan Weaver finished 7th overall shooting a final round 74 and the Bobcats took home third place. The women only graduate two seniors, Lauren Bergman and Colleen Lienesch.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS AND COLOPHON

The 105th edition of the Athena Yearbook was produced by students at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio from September 2009 through June 2010.

The full-color publication covers the entire academic year in one 120-page softbound edition.

The cover was designed by Joe Robbins.

All pages were designed using Adobe InDesign CS3. Other software applications used include Adobe Photoshop CS3 and Microsoft Word.

All pre-press production was done in-house with a final package being delivered to Ohio University Printing Services.

Jim McAdams of MJM Studios, based in Greentown, Indiana, took senior portraits during three different sessions throughout the course of the academic year.

Educational Services, Inc. of Atlanta, Georgia, collected corporate advertising for the book, with Paul Wimmler as representative.

Four-process color was used on all pages. The fonts used throughout the book were Garamond, Engravier Initials, Times New Roman, and Bahamas.

The book was sold for $20.00

A lot of work went on behind the scenes this year for The Athena. We'd like to thank everyone who helped in any way to get this book out.

Things are always changing faster than you think. I was even surprised—I found out over the summer that our advisor Jim Rodgers had passed away. The future of the Athena looked bleak, but with the help of Jenny Hall Jones and a little persistence, we found a new home in the Alumni Association. With our new resources and a totally new format, we began the process of re-establishing The Athena as the premier annual review publication of Ohio University.

We realized that the hardcover yearbook that had been The Athena's trademark style was no longer viable with our current staff and demand, so we changed it. But we changed the price, too, because our ultimate goal is to get this book in your hands. I want to personally thank you for purchasing The Athena. Your support will help us to continue recording the student experience here at Ohio. Things are constantly changing, but I hope The Athena is here to stay.

Congrats to the class of 2010. We'll miss you.
